4 Ways for You and Your Dog to Fall in Love with Fall

Published February 10, 2026

This summer, you and your dog probably enjoyed countless hours playing fetch outside and soaking up the sun. While the leaves may be changing color and the air may be cooler, that doesn't mean the end of outdoor fun for the year. Fall is a wonderful time for you and your dog to get out of the house and enjoy the crisp, cool season.

Add these four activities to your autumn schedule to make the most of cozy sweater weather with your furry friend.

1. Visit a Pumpkin Patch

Spend a fall afternoon at a pumpkin patch searching for the perfect pumpkin to decorate your home for the season or carve up for Halloween. If you're feeling ambitious, you can try recreating your dog's face on your pumpkin to make an adorable "pup-o-lantern"! For some extra likes from your social followers, snap an adorable fall photo with your pup and your pumpkin. If you don't have a pumpkin patch nearby, consider visiting a local apple orchard. You can bake your picks into the freshest apple pie you've ever had.

2. Eat Pumpkin Spice Everything

3. Take Longer Walks

Just because the weather is cooler, that doesn't mean you and your dog have to spend your days cooped up in the house. In fact, after months of hot summer weather, you and your pup might want to take longer walks, thanks to the cooler and more comfortable temperature. Plus, you can enjoy the beautiful scenery with the changing leaves while your pup has fun sniffing about. It's also an opportunity to bundle up in your favorite fall layers. Extra points if you and your dog wear matching jackets!

4. Browse Your Local Farmer's Market

Spend a leisurely weekend strolling your local farmers market or fall harvest festival. You can walk your dog as you try delicious seasonal produce like apples, squash, beets and cranberries. Some stands may offer treats for your dog, or you can bring your own fall-friendly GREENIES™ Gingerbread Flavor Dental Treats to keep your dog smiling. People
